Caregivers help Mercer County neighbors

Mary Ann Lindner, Jane Latini, Mary Lou Cimini and Nancy Remer of Interfaith Caregivers of Greater Mercer County show off food baskets before they're delivered to area residents.

Boxes of donated coats and baskets of donated food filled the offices of Interfaith Caregivers of Greater Mercer

County recently, as staff and volunteers worked with donors and agency partners to ensure a brighter holiday season for those in need.

An ICGMC coat drive resulted in the collection of 69 coats, nine scarves and dozens of hats, gloves, sweaters and jeans that were passed along to Trenton Ecumenical Area Ministry to distribute throughout the community.

Additionally, volunteers and staff worked to assemble 33 baskets of fresh fruits, nuts, cupcakes, candy and grocery store gift cards made possible by donations from the FISH Foundation, Operation Cupcake and ICGMC Project Healthy Bones volunteers.

Interfaith Caregivers of Greater Mercer County is a volunteer-powered nonprofit organization that serves hundreds of homebound elderly and people with disabilities each year.
