Dementia progresses through a series of stages ranging from mild to severe.

While every individual's experience with dementia is unique, their journey through the seven stages of dementia typically follow a specific path. In this workshop, Steven Guarino, Senior Well-Being Specialist at Oaks Integrated Care, will explain these stages so attendees will know what to expect if a loved one is diagnosed with dementia.

This program is funded by the Older Americans Act and the Mercer County Office on Aging/ADRC.
